After speaking of Cleveland in terms of generous commendation, he says of Blaine that, "notwithstanding the prominent political position he has held many years, he is a man of talent without profound culture, but attractive in manner, a clever speaker, skilled parliamentarian, and unscrapulous party man, highly trained, and an out-and out machine politician—these are his qualfactions as a statesman. * * The tendency of his administration would doubtless be deeper immersion in the swamp, for he lives and moves in political read and source to his duty as a citizen, he will even the constitutional History of the United States, the constitutional History of the United States, the Chief Executive of the State to acknowledge in its behalf that our farmers yield full return for the benefits that our farmers yield full return for the benefits they receive from the State government. sional District of Mississippi will meet in convention on Saturday, the 27th instant, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress. They propose to make a close canvass and elect their man.

The returns of the Vermont election held on Tuesday last are all in, and the Republicans find that their majority does not exceed 20,000. In 1880 it was nearly showing a Republican plurality of 8841, against a minority of 160 in the Gubernatorial election in September. The Presi-dential vote generally gains on the Guber-natorial vote in the same year owing to the slackened exertions of the defeated party. Therefore to the winner's majority to-day may be added a fair increase for the Presidential majority in November. The vote of 1880 was the heaviest ever cast. Gov. Robie has served one term, is popular, and of the highest character. John B. Redman, the Democratic candidate in a converge way promise a very converge way to be a served.

The Democrats concede 12,on election night, but estimates based upon the returns give Reed, Republican, a majority of 600 in the First District, with Dingley, Millikin and Boutelle re-elected in the Second, Third and Fourth Districts respectively, Boutelle by an increased majority.

The fact that this is done furnishes a distinct recognition by the State of the valuable relation which dition to our leading in manufactures, the value of our farms and their products is value of our farms and their products is second only among States. There is fixedness and reliability in agricultural pursuits which are not always found in other branches of industry and human efforts. Their crops may be more abundant at one harvest than another, their products may command a higher price at one mar-ket time than another. These conditions may expand or contract their ability to in-dulge in luxuries or in expenditures not

A Scorching Reply tary of the Treasury under President Grant. If anyone knew Mr. Blaine well it was Maine's lamented ex-Senator. He was for years and years his neighbor, both at home and at Washington. What he thought of the Republican candidate for President may be seen by reading the following correspondence. The first letter is from the Ohio Republican State Com-

Senator Lot M. Morrill:

Data Sin-The situation in Ohio is a critical one. The party is in trouble on account of the attacks on Mr. Blaine as the candidate of the party. Your well-known character as a pure and apright statesman, and, coming from Blaine's own State, you could refute the charges as no one else can. We hope you will come to us in this emergency, and make as many speeches as possible.

Mrs. Morrill, from her homein Augusta sent to the committee the following reply To Brown, chairman. Columbus, Ohio: I am surprised and shocked to receive such a communication. I thought every citizen of this country knew my husband was at rest. I am in mourning for him, but, as much as I mourn his death. I thank my Father in heaven that He called him home before the party he loved so well and did so much for had so disgraced itself as to nominate so wicked and corrupt a man for the highest office within the gift of the American people, as I know and my husband knew James G. Blaine to be. If he were alive he would not support Mr. Blaine, or any such man, at the bidding of his party. CHARLOTTE MOREILL.

They were then seven days without food and five without water. They discussed casting lots which should die that the others might live, but were unable to agree. Next day it was determined to kill the boy Parker. Capt. Dudley opened his jugular vein with a pen-knife and the boy died instantly. The survivors, the captain and two seamen, drank the murdered boy's blood and sustained life by eating his flesh until rescued by the ship Monteguma on the 5th of July. The reason assigned for determining upon the boy's death is that he suffered most from thirst and was unmarried. When rescued the mate, adjutant-general, Cincinnati; Brig-Gen. Bob Newell, Little Rock, quarter-master-general; Brig.-Gen. C. R. Mack, inspector-general, Detroit. and was unmarried. When rescued the men looked like skeletons. They will be charged with murder.
